The Times says the name of General McClellan is prominently mentioned as the successor to Gen. Francis Adams at the Compt. of St. James. The Times says the special says the decision in the Georgia and Mississippi cases, given yesterday, is held by leading Republicans to dispose of the McClellan and all others which affect the reconstruction laws, and to leave them. The best lawyers in the House were free to assert that it settled all questions as to the attitude of the Supreme Court, and all the proposed laws of reconstruction acts, and that no danger need be apprehended from that source.

The same special states the President's rejoinder to Gen. Grant reached army headquarters, and the Senate, and to sight that the President intended to make it public, but in answer to the resolution which passed the House this evening the latter will be read tomorrow at the close.

Gen. Grant appears to-morrow before the committee.

The Tribune's special also states that the President contemplates offering the mission to England to General McClellan.

Official letters received from Madrid say the misunderstanding between Mr. Hall, Minister to Spain, and his Secretary of Legation, Mr. Perry, and it is said that the former will come home before Perry is recalled.

The House Committee of Appropriations reconsidered their action on the censorial and diplomatic bill and resolved to report it substantially as it passed last year. The appropriate bill for Greece, which had been introduced, was not, but it is understood that General Butler, when the bill reaches the House, will move to substitute Greece for Ecuador. The committee will offer no opposition, and is thought it will pass.
